

PROJECT GOAL

The goal of this project is to develop a versatile mobile web-application on Bubble.io that enables users to efficiently share their contact information and company details during business meetings. The client, who frequently attends various business gatherings, faces the inconvenience of carrying physical business cards and printed materials. Moreover, the client desires a future-proof solution that can scale into a cloud service, accommodating additional features such as price lists, presentations, and other related files.

Project: QR Cloud